Bookstore Opens

The yearbook this year opened a new bookstore under the management of Steve Gemelli and Deb Poulin. The store was also run by assistants. Mike Savageaux and Jeff Zastawney took charge of the store in the morning, while it was run by Sue Tighe, Wendy Parlin, Deb Poulin, and Steve Gemelli at lunch time.

The Bookstore's stock consisted of many school supplies such as: Pens, Pencils, Notebooks, Bookcovers, and everyone's favorite, Candy. All the profits from the store are used to support the yearbook. This year the bookstore was very successful and will hopefully become a Grafton High tradition.

250 Years Old

White men probably did not set foot in this part of the country until 1635, when a party of some sixty Englishmen emigrated to the banks of the Connecticut River. The conversion of the Indians began in 1646 when John Eliot, known as "the apostle to the Indians," began his work among the Indians at Natick, who were friendly with the Nipmuck tribe. Eliot probably arrived in the area of Grafton between 1651 and 1654.

Grafton was originally a portion of the Nipmuck country, so called by its being owned and occupied by a large tribe of Indians called Nipmucks, which included the Hassanamesits, the tribe which made its home in Grafton.

The town, originally known as Hassanamesit (meaning "a place of small stones"), was founded in 1660 by Rev. John Eliot for Christian Indians. At the time it was established it contained 12 families. An Indian church was established here in 1671, the second of its kind in the country. Eliot said of the town that "No Indian town gave stronger assurances of success than this, at that time. Hassanamesit had become the central point of civilization and Christianity to the whole Nipmuck country." A school was established, where the Bible was read and studied in the Indian language. Young men were here educated and sent into the neighboring towns to preach the gospel. A regular government was created, and the forms of law strictly observed. The area, later called Hassanamisco, was sold to white settlers in 1720's.

In 1728 The English inhabitants voted to build a meeting-house and a school, as well as homes for minister and the schoolmaster.

The petition presented to the General Court to incorporate the township was signed by all but two or three of the inhabitants and presented on April 15, 1735. The petitioners asked merely for town privileges and were willing to leave so unimportant a matter as a name to the General Court. Grafton is indebted to Governor Belcher for its name, given to honor a distinguished Englishman, Charles Fitz Roy, the Duke of Grafton, a member of the Privy Council and grandson of King Charles II.

The Duke of Grafton was reported to have warned King George III about his poor treatment of the American colonies. When the king decided to send a large body of German troops to help British forces, Grafton answered earnestly, "Your majesty will find too late that twice the number will only increase the disgrace, and never effect the purpose."

New Headquarters

The year? 1985. A big year in the history of Grafton. This is the year that Grafton becomes 250 years old. Along with a birthday, Grafton has acquired a new Municipal Center. The center now houses all the Town offices as well as Quinsigamond Community College and Worcester State College. The new Municipal Center is much larger than the old Town House on the common. This center will serve the community very well for at least another 100 years.

Central Office: Eunice Inman, Secretary to the Superintendent; Josephine Bouthillette, Bookkeeper; Marilyn Gauvin, Bookkeeper; Edward Gendron, Superintendent of Buildings and Grounds; Madeline Wood, Business Administrator

Freshmen

(Top) Treasurer: Angela Gemelli; President: Tom Casale; (Bottom) Vice President: Kim Teso; Secretary: Mary Inman

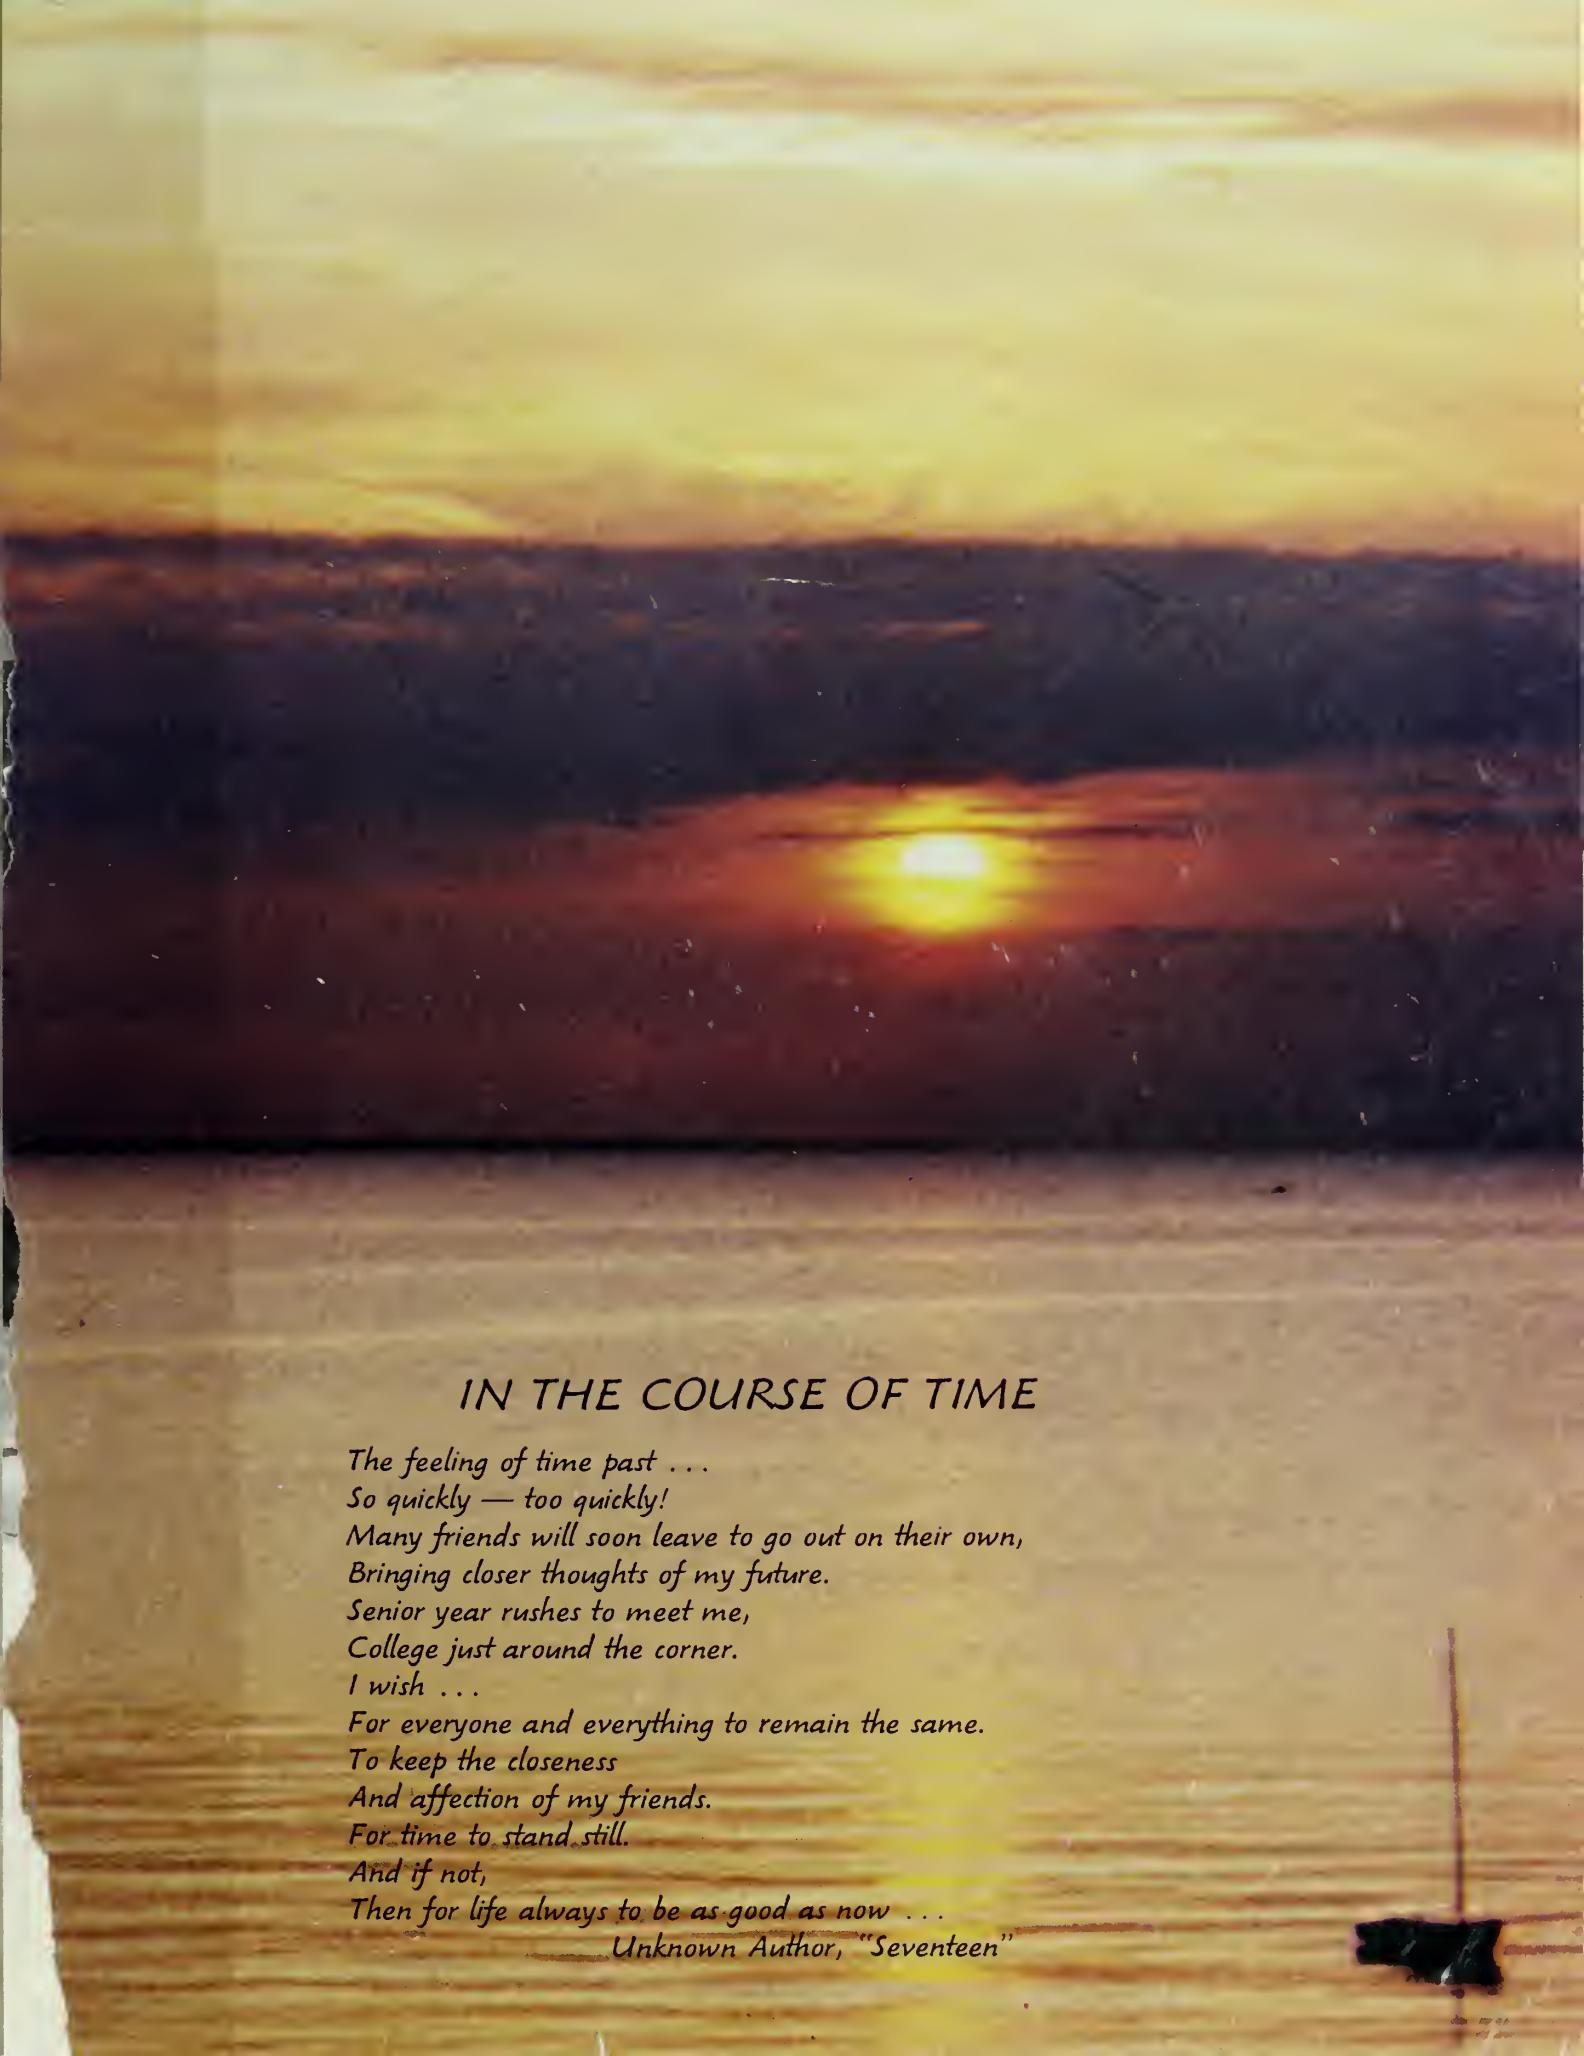

Sophomores

(top) President: Rob Starkey; Vice President: Jim Joncas (bottom) Secretary: Kim Pigaga; Treasurer: Tammi Frederico

IN THE COURSE OF TIME

The feeling of time past . . .
So quickly — too quickly!
Many friends will soon leave to go out on their own,
Bringing closer thoughts of my future.
Senior year rushes to meet me,
College just around the corner.
I wish . . .
For everyone and everything to remain the same.
To keep the closeness
And affection of my friends.
For time to stand still.
And if not,
Then for life always to be as good as now . . .

Well Mich, we finally did it! Now it's time to move on to Bigger and Better things. I just want to wish everyone luck because we'll all need at least a little of it. Thanks Mom + Steve for everything you've done for me in the past 4 years. I Love you both with all my heart. To the class of '85: "This Buds for you!"

Indians On The Warpath

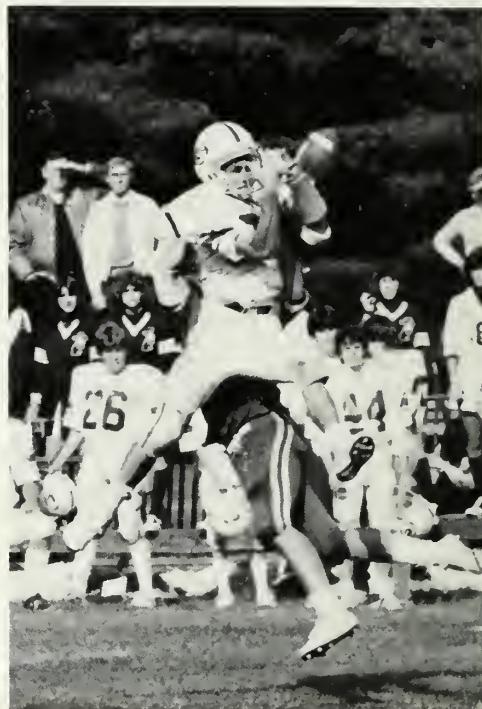

GHS Sports

An Unforgettable Season

The 1984 GHS Football season will be one few will soon forget. After a rebuilding year in 1983, the team returned with a strong varsity that included thirteen seniors. Led by captains Tony Molinari, Mike Haseltine, and David Mason, the Indians were determined to improve their record. And improve it they did. The team ended their season with a 9-1 record, becoming undefeated SWCL Champs. Two memorable wins took place within the League. The Indians broke a seven-year losing streak and finally beat the Northbridge Rams. Grafton also took a win over David Prouty by coming from behind in the last moments of the game to win 16-13. Grafton's only loss was to the Bartlett Indians, a Division II school. With their impressive record and decisive victories, the Grafton Indians were Superbowl-bound.

An Enjoyable Season

The 1984 field hockey team did not present quite as many spectacular wins as did other GHS teams this year. But the girls had fun. The most memorable game took place when the Indians placed a victory over the David Prouty Panthers. The GHS win knocked Prouty out of the Districts. Maureen Cimoch took over as varsity coach this season, planning an "organizational and building year." Led by captains Michelle Inman and Sue Tighe, the senior members of the varsity squad were: Monique Desrosiers, Heather Scott, Beth Wilson, Wendy Parlin, Diane LaPointe, and Debbie Poulin. Throughout the season Coach Cimoch tested a few J.V. team members in varsity games for future references in choosing the 1985 squad. Several standouts from both varsity and J.V. include Kim Inman, Tammi Garabedian, Mary Inman, and Sally Malboeuf. There are hopes that the 1985 field hockey season will be an improvement over the 2-10 1984 season.

In The Running for A Great Season

The 1984 boys cross country team worked hard for a memorable season. Despite a season-opening loss at an invitational meet against Milford, the team was ready for the Southern Worcester County League teams. The Indians met each opponent twice, losing only three times in the season. At a division meet in Wachusett, the Grafton team placed third with the first-place win of junior Jim Noonan. At the SWCL meet, Jim again proved his skill by setting a new course record and making the Grafton Indians SWCL Champions.

A Team of Hard Workers

This season the 1984 girls cross country team was undermanned but full of hope. The girls worked hard and trained with the boys' team under the coaching of Richard Coleman. Although the competition was fierce at the meets, freshman Mary Noonan proved she was as good as her brother, Jim. Along with him, Mary won at the SWCL meet. The team members included Tina Gauthier, Chris Gravel, Nancy Mara, Mary Noonan, and Lisa Tillotson, all returning next year for a more promising season.

Super Celebration

The Grafton High football team closed out its spectacular season on Dec. 1, 1984, with a 22-0 victory over the Assabet Aztecs in the Div. III Superbowl. The GAME had it all. From start to finish there was non-stop action. Grafton, throughout the game, showed it could play defensively as well as offensively, not allowing the opposition to score. The "gang-green" defense controlled the line of scrimmage and proceeded to crush the Aztecs. While not as offensively sharp in the Superbowl as in other games this season, the Indians made the most of all opportunities. Crucial turn-overs made by Assabet resulted in 9 points for Grafton. The remaining 13 points did come from the Indians' potent offensive attack. This convincing victory proved Grafton to be the deserving champions. The 1984 squad started the season with one objective: win one game at a time, then win the Superbowl. Congratulations upon reaching that objective. It was a season to remember.

The Cheering Season

The football cheerleaders this season were very busy. Along with making banners for all the games and for Pep Rally, the team was trying to learn new cheers for the football games. Also on schedule was a new dance routine choreographed by the team. The team members had their work cut out for them this season. The squad was ten members large with two freshman members. Several team members had visited the Junior High School last spring and held auditions for the eighth graders. Cindy Clearwater and Sam Brady were good enough to make the squad. Alternates on the team were often cheering at the games giving them much experience. The squad worked hard to make the football season an enjoyable one.

The Cheering Season Part II

The 1984-85 basketball cheerleaders had a busy season this year. Along with decorating the gymnasium for home games and learning the basketball cheers, the team had to prepare for competition. The team entered into three tournaments, St. Georges, David Prouty, and Bartlett, placing third in the Bartlett tournament. Sandy Houde won Outstanding Cheerleader for her squad in the Bartlett competition. This year's coaches were Sandy Pigaga and Claudette Joncas. Claudette was a former cheerleader at GHS. Both coaches worked hard to put the girls through the tournament, and worked on some difficult competition cheers. The regular cheering season was extended this year because of Clark Tournament and Districts. But the team, led by captains Kim Reed and Kim Morgan, worked hard and it paid off.

Oh What a Season

Art Glispin goes up for the jump

Following in the footsteps of the GHS football team this year, the Grafton High hoopsters had a memorable season. They ended the season 11-3, taking second place to Millbury in the SWCL standings. The only double loss came against Millbury High. In the first meeting, Grafton seemed unprepared and took their greatest loss. But at the second meeting, GHS was ready to win. With the homecourt advantage, the Indians showed the Woolies they had improved. Both teams set an exciting pace that took the game into overtime, with Millbury winning by only 2 points. The other loss came against Hopedale, a surprisingly good team from another league. With this standing, Grafton was invited to the Clark Tournament. The Indians won their way to the finals, only to lose again to Hopedale in overtime. Grafton was also seeded in the District games, but a strong Ayer team knocked them out in the first rounds. This basketball season was surely an exciting one.

The Girls Basketball team is certainly happy this season. After a building 1983-84 season, the varsity squad returned with only a few losses. Under the coaching of Gary Nelson, the girls worked hard, won enough games to qualify for districts, something that hasn't occurred in several years. In the district games the team lost to Fanning Trade by one point. Good Luck to the squad in 1985-86.

A Homerun Season

The 1985 Baseball season was definitely a crowd pleaser. Following in the footsteps of the victorious football and basketball teams, the boys baseball team had a victorious season. Three Senior pitchers led the team. They were Tom Nicalek, John Bauer, and Ron Lukasevicz. Other Senior members were Bill Abraham, Bruce Joncas, and Lee Vitkauskas. Their hard work along with the rest of the team led them to the district games, where they lost in the first rounds.

Under the super coaching of Joyce LaBonte, the 1985 Girls Softball team had another great season. Under the leadership of the senior members the girls made a return appearance to the districts this year. Senior pitcher Sue Tighe led the team, along Carol Sweeney, Mary Mahassel, Chris Jones, + Michelle Pietrewicz. The team entered the districts with a great record and an excellent seeding, but lost in the first rounds. The younger players hope for a season as good as the last two, in the years to follow.

Grafton girls, in the swing of things!

This past season saw the GHS girls tennis team make great strides in becoming a major factor in the SWCL. In his second year as coach Mr. Barlow had most of the same team back this year. He was very pleased with and proud of the improvements made in both the team's attitude and record. Included in the season were upset victories over Bartlett and Hudson, plus splits in the matches with Hopedale, David Prouty, and Leister.

Once again, Lisa Nichols displayed the talents that place her among the best tennis players in the league. The senior captain posted a log of seven victories against only four defeats — despite playing the entire season with a very painful shoulder injury. The team was also sparked by the surprising singles play of freshman Kara Nichols and Mary Noonan, each of whom should present a real dilemma for the opposition over the next three years. Another bright spot was the number one doubles team, which was a sophomore tandem made up of Nancy Mara and Tammi Frederico.

The 1985 girls track team was one of learning and rebuilding, but also one of challenge and enjoyment. Although the season did not result in many team wins, there were many personal aspirations and goals achieved. Under the coaching and guidance of Maureen Cimoch and Mike Flynn, the team was united in a bond of friendship and good sportsmanship.

Probably the most memorable meet of the season was the SWCL meet, once again held on the home field of GHS. Many schools from Worcester County competed against each other, both as teams and individuals, to produce an afternoon of stiff competition and good clean fun.

With This Ring . . .

As in the past, Mrs. Flynn's Personal and Family Living classes have performed weddings in the courtyard of the High School. This spring two wedding took place. In the first wedding Lori Laviolette was the bride to Mike Jacobson. In the second wedding Sharon Novick "married" Rod Wheatley. The reverend Brian Allen presided over both ceremonies. The weddings were informal and the participants even wrote personal speeches to accompany the formal wedding vows. A reception following each wedding, took place in the cooking room. In all it was a rewarding experience for the students involved, and a fun one for those who watched.

“Just You and I” at the Prom

On Saturday, May 11 the Junior and Senior Prom was held at the Sheraton-Lincoln Inn in Worcester. The band was Espree and the theme was “Just You and I.” The 1985 Prom seemed to be an improvement over the 1984 Prom. The weather was perfect (compared to a rainy prom the year before) and everyone went outdoors for picture taking. Also the dancefloor at the prom was much larger as was the room in the Sheraton-Lincoln compared to the 1984’s Sheraton-Tara.

The 1985 Prom courts were chosen towards the end of the evening. In the Junior class, the Prom Queen was Carolyn Casey and her court consisted of: Heidi Chase, Karen Morrissette, Danielle Salek, and Angie Sommers. The Senior Prom Queen was Angela Benton and the court members were Heidi Iwaniak, Lynn Magliaro, Jennifer Murphy, and Deanna Samara. The band Espree made all the choices for the courts and Queens. The Senior Prom King for 1985 was Bruce Joncas. No court was chosen for the Senior guys.

Grafton Students Shine

On June fourth, Grafton High School presented its Awards Banquet. Awards were presented to deserving students in athletics and academics. But before the presentation of awards the students and their parents were given a buffet banquet in the cafeteria. All invited students were asked to contribute to the buffet, so there was a mixture of different salads, breads, desserts, and other food, from which the guests could choose.

After dinner the students, parents, and faculty moved to the auditorium for the presentation. In athletics, honored students received various awards ranging from a letter (first year varsity) to a blacket (four years of varsity). In academics letters, pins, medallions, and jackets were awarded to various students. The 1985 Emmett-Ludy Award was presented to Tony Molinari, while Beth Wilson won the Hassanamisco Award. Both Awards are usually presented to a Senior for Athletic Excellence.

Soaking up the sun — Class Trip '85

On Wednesday, May 29 the GHS Senior Class ventured to the Frank-Davis Resort in Connecticut for their class trip. The day was perfect and the sun was hot, so the pool was full of students that day. But Grafton wasn't the only school there. Seniors from all parts of New England spent their class trip at this resort. There were many activities ranging from canoe races to basketball games. There was also a D.J. playing songs for those who wanted to dance. But most of the students lounged by the pool and soaked up the sun. It was a memorable trip except for the bus rides ...

SENIORS TAKE THE SPOTLIGHT

On Friday, May 30, just 24 hours before graduation, the Seniors at GHS attended their class night banquet. Thanks to Mrs. Cragan and the cafeteria staff, an enjoyable dinner was served to the guests. After dinner, Mr. Lemay and Mr. Lynch presented academic medallions and pins, along with departmental awards to deserving Seniors. Then the fun began. Wendy Parlin and Diane LaPointe presented awards and gifts to the winners of the superlative voting; they ranged from Cutest to Most Forgetful. Mr. Cormier's slide show presentation ended the evening with lots of laughs and a few tears. The dance held after Class Night was not well attended and ended early.

Rehearsal

Presenting the Class of 1985

The day was Friday, May 31st and a certain group of Grafton residents were busy preparing for one of the most important days of their lives. This was the day of graduation for the Class of 1985. Finals were over, report cards returned to the students, and graduation rehearsals were concluded. This was the big moment.

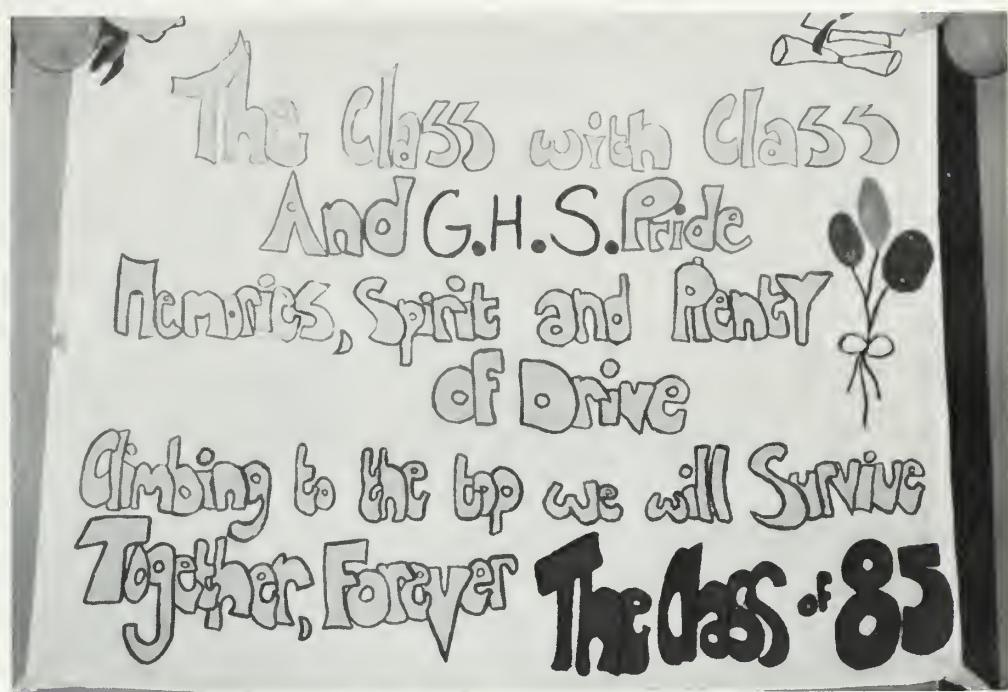

Awards and Scholarships were first announced and music selections by two seniors were heard. Jim L'Esperance wrote a song just for the Class of '85 that brought tears to the eyes. Kim Reed sang a beautiful farewell song. Then it was the big moment. The graduating members of the Grafton Memorial Senior High School, Class of Nineteen Hundred and Eighty-Five received their diplomas. There were lots of smiles, lots of tears, and many goodbyes that night, but we'll never forget four great years of school.

Those Brave Teachers

RRRRRIIIINNNNNNGGGGG!!!!

Ugh! Is it 6 O'Clock Already? I really don't want to get up, get dressed, and have to face those monsters today. It's the same story every day. I try to teach them something useful, but all they are concerned with are the parties over the weekend, when tickets go on sale for the next Centrum concert, or who is going out with who. How can I compete with all that?

I have to correct those tests before they get on my back. I wish that they would spend as much energy studying for the test as they do afterwards wanting to know the grade. Also I have to memorize the grade for each of my 125 students, since they will all stop me in the hall way and will want to know the grades.

RRRRRIIIINNNNNNGGGGG!!!!

Foolish snooze alarm, must be 6:15. Had better get up for sure. Maybe I should call in sick. It's the day before Christmas vacation and three fourths of the kids will take the day off, so why shouldn't I? If I'm lucky I'll only have 2 or 3 students in each class. What can I do in a class with only a handful of kids? But the office wants me to work so I guess that I will have to come up with something to do.

Suspect that the folks in the teacher's room will be yapping about something as usual. They'll tell the tales about what the cutest daughter in the world did yesterday. Or what the smartest son in the world thought up. Or what the students are doing in the hallways. Or what the office has just decided to do.

I think I will call in sick — I'm sick of school. I need the day off.

RRRIIINNNNGGG!!!

What's that!? RRRRIIINNNNGGG!!! Oh, The phone.

Hello . . . You're Kidding! Great! Thanks! Have a great vacation.

I can't believe that he called off school since we only got seven inches of snow. Oh well, back to sleep. Heh, heh, heh!!!
